STEEL TRUST PROFITS

SYNDICATE BACKERS GET BIG RETURN FOR MONEY

Morgan Pockets $2,000,000 Which Represents 100 Percent Dividend --Common and Preferred Stock.

New York, Feb. 13.—J. P. Morgan & Co. have mailed checks aggregating $10,000,000 to the syndicate which floated the United States Steel Corporation. This is 5 per cent on the $200,000,000 subscribed by the syndicate to carry out the financial operations incident to the flotation of the billion-dollar corporation.

As only $25,000,000 was ever called for by Mr. Morgan to carry out the deal, the dividend yesterday is actually 40 per cent on the amount of money advanced by the bankers to J. P. Morgan & Co. The latter's share in yesterday's dividend was 20 per cent, or $2,000,000, so up to this time Mr. Morgan has cleared about 100 per cent on the money subscribed by his firm to the syndicate.

Nearly every prominent banking house in the United States was a member of the syndicate. Nearly every city in the country had a representative in it. The subscriptions were therefore comparatively small. They ranged, as a rule, from $200,000 to $500,000.

J. P. Morgan & Co. are said to have subscribed about $2,000,000, and similar subscriptions were made by John D. Rockefeller, John W. Gates, Isaac L. L. Wood, William Rockefeller, the First National Bank, the Mutual Life Insurance Company, the New York Life Insurance Company, and the Bank of Commerce.

The total profits are said to have been $84,198,339, or about 40 per cent of the original subscription, but from this will have to be deducted the $25,000,000 which was returned to the syndicate and $2,000,000 for general expenses. The actual net profits, therefore, are said to be $56,198,339.

The syndicate retained 649,987 shares of common stock and the same amount of preferred stock, which it sold at an average of 90 for the preferred and 40 for the common. J. P. Morgan's whole profit is 20 per cent of $56,000,000, or $11,200,000.

J. P. Morgan & Co. are discussing a plan to fund the $50,000,000 of preferred stock in the United States Steel Company into an issue of 5 per cent second mortgage bonds. Bankers think that most of the stockholders would surrender their 7 per cent stock in return for the 5 per cent bonds, because of the greater security which would be afforded their investment.

The reduction of the dividends from 7 to 5 per cent on the preferred stock would save the United States Steel Corporation $11,000,000 annually, which would make available a sufficient amount to increase the dividends on the common stock to 6 per cent. This would make the latter a much higher grade security than it is at present.

The Massachusetts Legislature is to be asked to appropriate $25,000 for the erection of an equestrian or military statue of General Benjamin F. Butler, to be placed in the State House grounds at Boston. A bill to appropriate $50,000 for the same purpose was defeated several years ago.

OK.O FOR ROOSEVELT

Chicago, Feb. 19.—Governor George K. Nash of Ohio, yesterday declared Senator Hanna out of the Presidential race and said that Ohioans with practical unanimity looked forward to the re-nomination of President Roosevelt.

"Neither politicians generally," said Governor Nash, "nor Senator Hanna himself, so far as I am aware, are considering as among the probabilities, or even possibilities, his running against President Roosevelt for the next Republican nomination. However, no one can tell what will be the developments of the next three years."

THE WOMAN WHO DARED.

Laird & Lee of Chicago have added another to the long list of fascinating stories from the ever popular pen of Lawrence L. Lynch: "The Woman Who Dared."

This time the author takes us to Cheyenne, Wyoming, in the years when that city was at the worst of its woody period. The turbulent crowd of miners, cowboys and bushmen generally, and their crafty leaders, who knew so well how to lure the hard-earned dollars out of the pockets of the honest and unsophisticated rough pioneers of civilization, are vividly depicted—so vividly that we cannot help loving some of them, like Pony Jack, while others rouse our hatred or contempt. The heroine fulfills an almost impossible task, holding her own against secret and open enemies, as well as against well-meaning, awkward friends, until at the crisis when all seems lost, watchful love saves the day. Thrilling scenes behind the footlights and at the race track, in a bar-room and in a surging, yelling mob, keep the interest at fever heat. The volume of 470 pages is fully illustrated. Paper cover, lithographed in five colors, 25 cents; cloth edition, stamped in gold and ink, 75 cents.)

This constant exploitation of Southern business news cannot fail to be of great benefit to that section of the country, and correspondingly beneficial to capitalists and investors in other sections who are seeking opportunities for investment. It will bring the business men of both sections into closer touch with each other to their mutual advantage and materially assist in turning the present undeveloped regions of the South into hives of industry.—New York Commercial.

PHELAN'S SIDE OF IT

TELLS STORY OF HIS TALK WITH MR. WU

Chinese Minister Got Very Angry And Was Very Evasive—Doesn't Know What Tong Is.

New York, Feb. 27.—Former Mayor Phelan of San Francisco, before sailing for Europe, told the story of his encounter at the Waldorf-Astoria with Wu Ting Fang, the Chinese Minister.

"I was introduced to Wu Ting Fang, Chinese Minister, in the lobby of the Waldorf-Astoria," said Mr. Phelan, "and an animated discussion of the Chinese question immediately followed, attracting a crowd. I said the object of the bill before Congress was to exclude Chinese coolies; the Minister said that we did not know what 'coolies' meant, for coolies were those who carried baskets on their shoulders. I explained to him that in America 'coolie' meant the Chinese laborer of every sort. He then said the Chinese laborer was needed in the South. He was told that the Chinese did not assimilate. He asked blandly, 'I don't understand "assimilate" what does it mean?' I told him the meaning of 'assimilate,' and he said that the Chinese did not have a chance to assimilate. I answered that it was about time they began, for they were thirty-five years in California in large numbers. I told him further that they were not a voluntary emigration, but were brought here under contracts. This he admitted in part. I told him that they belonged to tonga and were controlled where they were here. He said 'What is a tong?' He was very evasive, and finally made a plea for the admission of educated Chinese, bankers and merchants. I replied that to these there was no objection. He then laid his general denunciation of the exclusion policy and said China would retaliate by excluding Americans. I retorted that the Americans, representing Western civilization, had something valuable to give China, and asked if he did not appreciate the diplomatic service of the United States in the recent Chinese trouble. He wound up by wishing that I was as good a man as Uncle George Bromley."

RUSSIAN SUGAR LABOR

The International Sugar Journal prints the following report from Russia: "In the Russian sugar industry 93,300 work people are employed in 203 sugar mills, working only moist sugar and in 35 sugar refineries connected with these mills and refining the sugar manufactured in them. Other 16,400 workers are employed in 23 refining works that are dependent on bought moist sugar. The wages of the men in both kinds of establishments were, in 1898, 37s monthly—a little higher, that is, than the average paid for men's work generally. On the other hand, the labor of the women, who number 12.2 per cent of the employees, was paid at a lower rate than the general average. Indeed, it was paid at the same rate (17s monthly) as the work of the 'minors,' who, in that year, constituted 2.1 per cent of the hands in the sugar mills. According to an established custom, nearly a fourth of the hands in the sugar works (22.7 per cent) are fed at the master's cost, this, of course, makes a difference in the money wages paid. In 1898 the deduction in the case of men was 41.5 per cent, in that of women 28 per cent."
